Metamorphosis Dedication

Ashton Crosby

Metamorphosis, a word which comes to English from Greek, refers to transformation or change. Our schooling and, indeed, life itself may be viewed as a series of such changes, and, therefore, our 1988 yearbook's title reflects the myriad of changes that occur throughout our association with Rippowam Cisqua in the hallways, classrooms, study halls; and in the art rooms or music rooms or woodshop or photo lab; and on the playing fields or rink or court; and on field trips and during assemblies or special programs; and where the metamorphosis seems but a temporary one: on stage before an audience.

The class of 1988 this year recognizes a dedicated individual who has served as an inspiration to us all, whose interest in us has been exceptional, whose influence will always touch our lives, and through whose help and guidance we have grown and matured.

Wrapped in a scarf in Latin class or on the set, he has always contributed his interest and enthusiasm to Rippowam Cisqua scholars and actors. Through twelve "seasons" here, he has transformed hundreds of students into characters on stage while building character in them both before and beyond the footlights. We therefore dedicate Metamorphosis to the man behind middle and upper school theatre, to the man who has drilled many of us through the mysteries of Latin and the wonders of English, and to the man who has encouraged, in part, our metamorphoses: Ashton Crosby.

I have hidden $20 on the Rippowam campus. The clue is as follows: Next time you're sitting in that back left-hand corner, pretending to think about geometry, put down your homework and say to yourself, "What the dickens is six comma three? Could it be six doors very close or maybe three strong fence posts?" Wherever it is, I just want you to know it won't be damaged by the next winter snow. Good luck!

Thomas Deacon Webster

There are too many here among us
Who feel life is but a joke,
But, you and I, we've been through that.
This is not our fate.
So let us not talk falsely now.

To my family for always helping me through the hard times and for enjoying the good times. I love you.

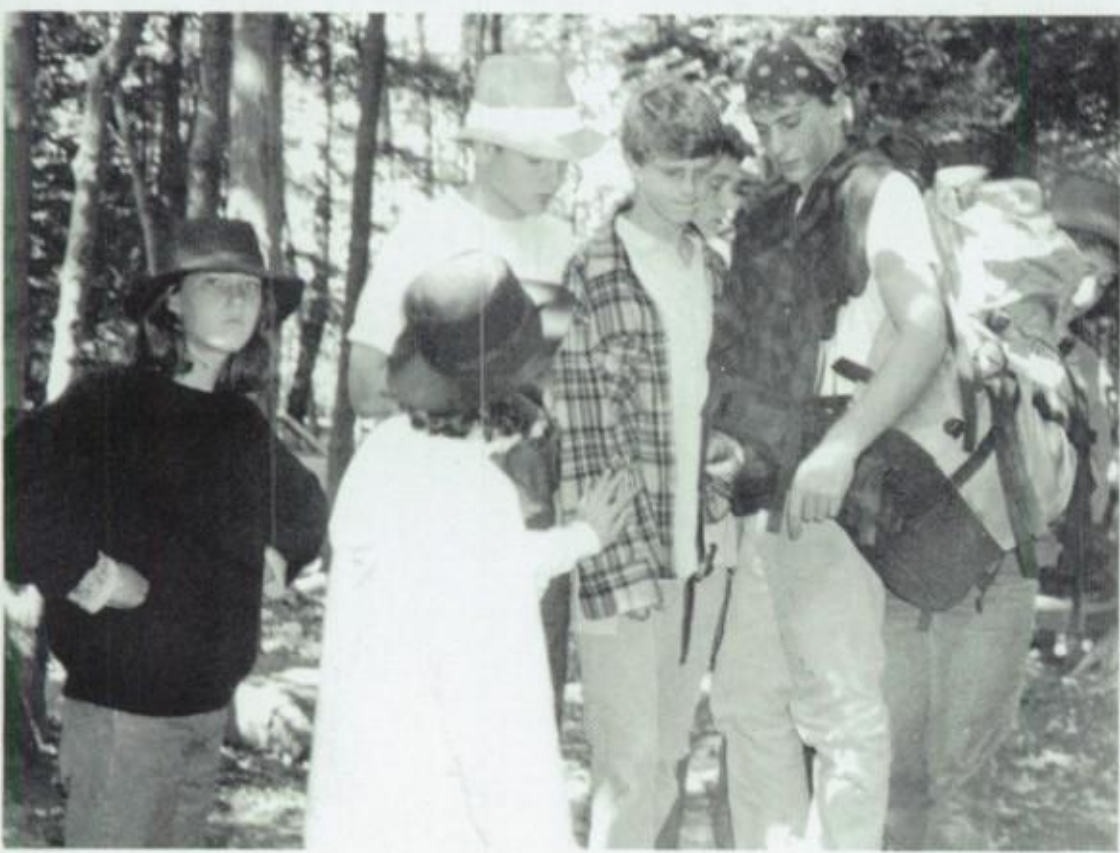

To Mrs. T, for always being there during the school day to hear my news, whether good or bad, thanks for everything.

To the Class of 1988 — thanks for the years at Ripp. We finally have finished and are on our way!

Arts and Activities

A Masque

Sir Gawain and the Green Knight

Rippowam Cisqua's holiday presentation this year was A Masque which featured the story of Sir Gawain and the Green Knight. The performance, staged by Mr. Crosby and Mrs. Fiala, starred Deacon Webster, Vanessa Landegger, Holly Forrester, Mickey Brons, and Bernard Schmiding; but the show also included the talents of many middle and upper school students as well as those of a number of Rippowam's faculty and staff.

The Masque (a popular Elizabethan and Jacobean entertainment of song, spectacle, and dance) played before a packed house in the festively arranged new gym on the evening of December 17.

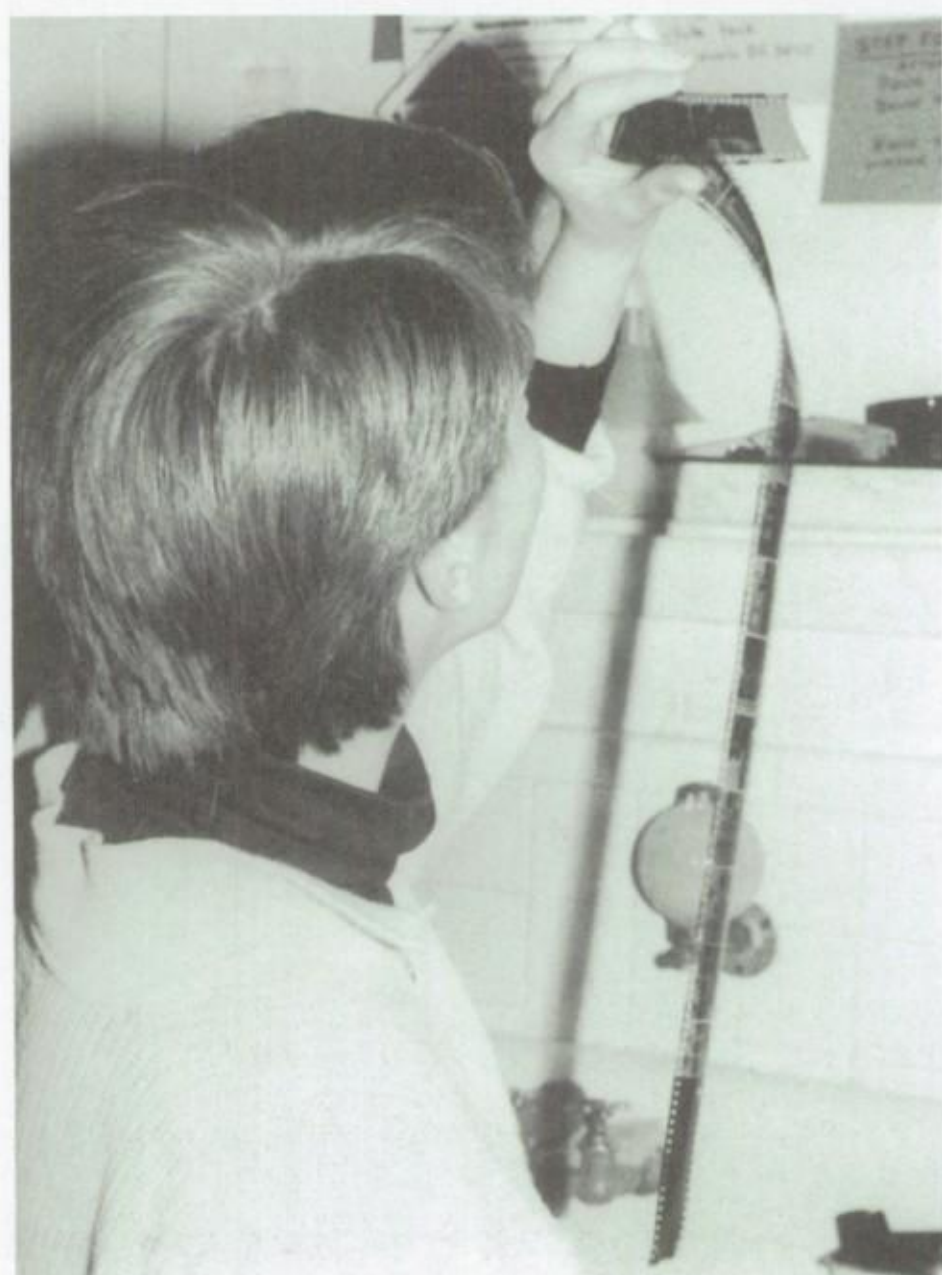

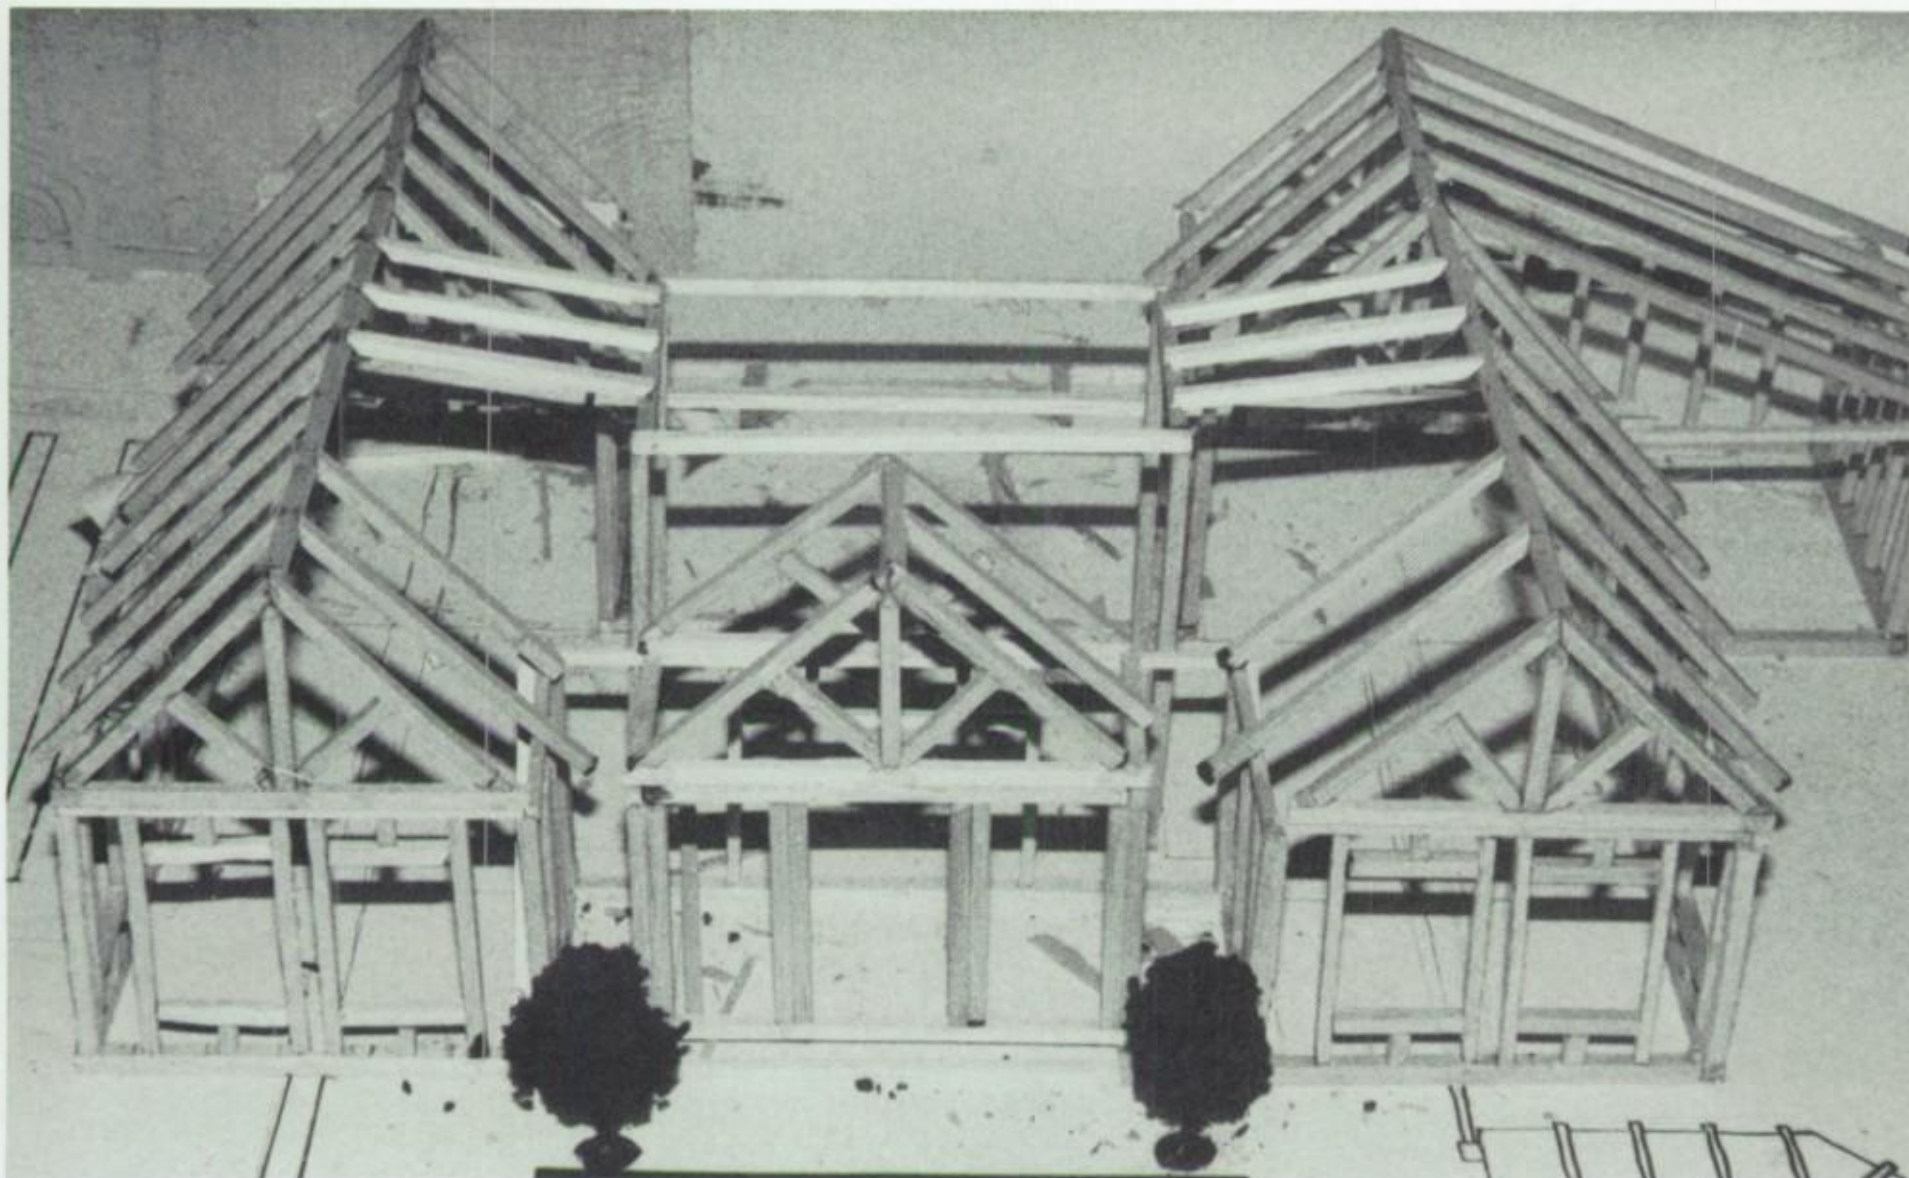

Metamorphosis in Allied Arts

Photography, Painting, Architecture,
Court Singers, Computer,
Woodworking, Electronic Music, Guitar,
Silkscreening

The title Metamorphosis is particularly appropriate when it is applied to the endeavors of the various Allied Arts at Rippowam. We transform pieces of wood into utile objects or lumps of clay into works of art or notes on a sheet of music into beautiful sounds. The arts involve various metamorphoses.
